

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. An eye-surgical holed towel comprising:

a transparent PVC holed towel with two holes at a center thereof;

5 a separable paper adhered to a backside of the holed towel; the separable paper having two holes; and an opaque shielding sheet adhered to a front side of the holed towel and between the two holes of the holed towel; and a lower edge of the opaque shielding sheet being adhered upon the holed towel so that the opaque shielding sheet is turnable along the lower edge for shielding one eye of a 10 user;

wherein the two holes of the separable paper are at positions corresponding to the two holes of the holed towel; when the separable paper is torn, it can be placed upon the face of a user.

2. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 1, wherein the 15 shielding sheet has a gluing section, when the separable paper is torn, it can be adhered to an eye of the user.

3. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 1, wherein one side of one of the two holes of the holed towel is adhered with a guide bag; an opening of the guide bag is adhered to the holed towel and is corresponding 20 to one hole of the holed towel for collecting undesired objects flowing from the eyes in surgery.

4. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 3, wherein a lateral side of the opening of the guide bag is stuck to the front side of the holed towel by gluing.

25 5. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 2, wherein the guide bag is made of PVC.

6. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 1, wherein opaque shielding sheet is made of non-weaving cloth.

7. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 1, wherein a 30 coverage of the holed towel is sufficient to cove the forehead, jaw, cheek and ears of a user.

8. The eye-surgical holed towel as claimed in claim 1, wherein a folding line is formed at the shielding sheet so as to form a slightly upward-inclined area; wherein by the slightly upward-inclined area of the shielding sheet, the doctor can turn the shielding sheet by fingers.